

Continuous Professional Development

green bean dance recognizes that the targets set for dance in schools are ambitious, and rightly so.

In order to achieve these ambitious aims, we believe that teachers and students must be given access to dance teaching and performance of the highest professional standard.

All children should have the opportunity to watch and talk about examples of professional dance. green bean dance can:

- offer live performances
- integrate videos of professional work from other companies into their workshops
- provide information about local and national dance performances.

All teachers are invited to participate in our workshops alongside their students, experiencing at first hand the ways in which professional dance artists develop various stimuli within a creative dance workshop.

On request, green bean dance will produce detailed lesson plans to accompany our workshops, offering further explanation about the various components of class and suggestions for development. We welcome all questions from teachers about the hows and whys of dance practice and seek to be a continuing source of advice and information after our visit to your school.

Last updated, September 2007